This route starts and ends in Casablanca, the most cosmopolitan and western city of Morocco for those who want to visit the King Hassan II Mosque and the old Medina ... From here we will go to the true city of entertainment in Morocco. In the center of Marrakech we find the square, Djemaa el Fna, which is the point of operation for artists. Marrakech, with the jutting peaks of the Atlas stretching out behind the city, has hot, humid summers and white, snowy winters. Marrakechis are known for their warmth and sociability, their humor and honesty.

The third city to visit is Essaouira, known as the windy city of Morocco. A combination of spectacular beaches, a great ocean and almost constant tropical trade winds has changed this city from a working port to one of the best places in the world for windsurfing, kiteboarding and other exhilarating water sports. The city has a double heritage and this can be seen in the mighty walls that surround this old Moroccan commercial center.

The last place to enjoy this tour is the charming resort town of Oualidia, which stretches around a beautiful crescent-shaped lagoon lined with golden sands and protected from the wild surf by a rocky breakwater. With a good selection of accommodation and excellent fish restaurants (the city is particularly famous for its oysters). That back to Casablanca for the return home.

Upon arrival in Casablanca you can check into a comfortable "Ocean Park Appart Hotel" in the building where our office is located. There is everything you need nearby. Within walking distance is the coast of the Atlantic Ocean and the famous Ain Diab beach. And also, the Harley Davidson store, the Mall of Morocco, restaurants and cafes, including McDonald's, Sturbucks and Carrefour and Marjane supermarkets.

Today the motorcycle tour start's, we are going to Marrakech... This city located in the center of Morocco, at the foot of the Atlas Mountains. It is nicknamed the "red city" or the "ocher city" in reference to the red color of a large part of its buildings and houses. One of the most evocative places in the world, just the name conjures up images of this cultural melting pot: sandstone buildings, dusty streets, and towering minarets against deep blue skies that immediately come to mind. It is truly the city of entertainment in Morocco. In the center of Marrakech there is a Djemaa el Fna square, which is the point of operation for artists. The "Red City" of Marrakech is a magical place, full of markets, gardens, palaces and mosques. Exploring the intimate courtyards and winding alleys of the historic Medina can easily eat a day. Find inner peace in the tranquil Majorelle Garden or enjoy the beauty of Menara, one of the city's historic mosques.

3 - Marrakesh - Essaouira - 190 km

Go to Essaouira, this city is known as the windy city of Morocco. A combination of spectacular beaches, a great sea and almost constant tropical trade winds have transformed this city from a hard-working port into one of the best places in the world for windsurfing, kitesurfing and other exciting water sports. The city has a double heritage and this can be seen in the mighty walls that surround this old Moroccan commercial center. Once a Portuguese fortress, the rusty cannons between the walls still point to the sea, and there is a certain European feel to the construction of the city, once known as Mogador. However, the narrow, winding streets are filled with the sound of Gnaoua singing, the alleys of the old medina and the palm trees cast their shadows through the walls of the whitewashed houses.

4 - Essaouira - Oualidia - 200 km

Afther a good rest we keep riding to the charming resort town of Oualidia stretches around a beautiful crescent-shaped lagoon lined with golden sands and protected from the wild waves by a rocky breakwater. With a good selection of accommodation and excellent fish restaurants (the city is particularly famous for its oysters).

5 - Oualidia - Casablanca - 208 km

Last day of our self guided tour... We come back to Casablanca... this is a large and modern city, but the old French colonial publication still allows countless movie moments for those who want to revisit love in the medina and the Old City. Casa, as the locals call it, is not too touristy, but it is the most cosmopolitan and western city in Morocco. Visit the King Hassan II Mosque and Casa Medina. We return the bikes and end of our services.
